Slim's Fashion and Arts School students took inspiration from their childhood memories for their graduation collection. Each piece in the line-up has been meticulously born from childhood toys, games, and memories torn held and colorful garments. While the designs are supposedly playful, the craftsmanship of the pieces are complex, expertly demonstrating the technical skills they have learned in school.

The exhibition of students' selected work are installed at the Old Bago Fashion Hall, featuring oversized crotch hands and whimsical sculptures accessorizing the pieces. The exhibit is open to the public and will run from September 27 to October 3, during mall hours.

See all their work below.

Dimmie Olsosan
